

Happy new year 2006!

Contributed by Eric Fritz
Saturday, 31 December 2005

It's after 10:30 pm local so it's close enough. Hey, it'll probably be the new year by the time you've read this so we're all good.

I've been working on another racing project at LocalTrackDays.com, specifically to track groups and events. As the name implies, I'm going to try and get this available for Nation-wide events so with any luck, I'll have 2006 events finished up and posted by the end of the weekend. If you know of a local group or any local events, let me know so that I can make sure that they're added to the calendar.