

Moving (still)

Contributed by Eric Fritz
Wednesday, 19 July 2006

So the good news -- most of the household stuff is done. Fish tanks have been partially broken down, and the first set of tanks should be moved later today & setup tonight/tomorrow. That should at least make it easier to bring the larger critters over. Garage is about 50% done -- it's amazing what makes it in to the garage after a couple years.

New house is coming along -- unpacking slowly but surely, getting rid of the LARGE pile of trash that the previous owners left behind (thanks, guys). Dumpster showed up today, and a gardener is eval'g the side yard to sod. Hopefully, we'll get the dogs moved over by this weekend.

Still lots of work to do at both houses -- maybe I should have taken next week off.